THE TRI-WEEKLY BULLETIN will be pub-

the Yankees Admit their Outrages and Atrocities in North Carolina.

It will be recollected that we publishe ome days ago, accounts of the excesses ind outrages committed by the Yankees during their late movement from Newbern to the interior of the State We see that these outrages are confessed and related in Northern papers. A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, who accompanied the expedition, with more frankness than is usually possessed by a Yankee, after describing a skirmish near Williamston, North Carolina, says in his letter :

The next morning, about half-past seven e again took up our winding way reached Williamston without turther resistence a little after eleven. This is a small town, having before the war from five to seven hundred inhabitants. We found it almost entirely deserted; one or two white men being all we saw in the place. Our halt here was about three hours, and at the end of that time the town was thoroughly pillaged. Not only were useful and ornamental articles taken from houses, and horses, harness and carriages from barns, but stores were entered and sacked, and with the 'apple jack' discovered and the whiskey dealt out by order, not a few were dead drunk, and many more partially phrenzied. When we moved a considerable number had to be urged almost at the point of the bayonet, whilst others were loaded into ambulances and

The division went forward to Hamilton, a little town of from three to four hundred But instead of marching into the were encamped in a corn-field just outside of it. The order was that two or three men be sent out to forage provisions for each company, and no others allowed in town. But whether by open dis obedience, or, by the connivance of those who should have enforced the order, the House. town was soon, in camp language, 'cleaned out,' even more completely than William-Not only were houses sacked, and everything portable and desirable carried but valuable furniture dashed to pieces, agged into the streets and burnt-in eld. I myself counted eight or tenearly or quite a dozen houses were needlessly, carelessly, barbarously burnt. It is little wonder, if such be the conduct of our forces everywhere, that we should acquire an unenviable reputation Mosenge of theflovernor of Blorida. The Tallahassee Floridian of the 22d brings us the recent message of Gov. John Milton, of Florida. The Governor endorses conscription, as a measure of necessity, and declares that Florida will sacrifice her last dollar to prosecute this war to a successful issue. He expresses his belief that much of the blockade running from Florida ports has been of a fraudulent character, and carried on with the connivance of the enemy. He, therefore, advocates the passage of an act of Congress, prohibiting, for the present, all exportation and importation, deeming it "the "policy of the Routh, to remedy the im-"pertections of the blockade, and to cut "off entirely all commerce with the United "States and other foreign nations, until "commercial necessities shall demand the "recognition of the independence of the "Confederate States, and the removal of "the blockade by suitable commercial treaties." The message embraces, besides, a clear and concise review of the financial and military condition of the State of Florida.

FROM FREDERICKSBURG.-By arrivals from Fredericksburg last night, we learn that matters were in statu quo. Our people believed that the enemy was moving off, but they seemed unable to give any other reason for this belief than his sudden and other wise unaccountable quietude. The hostile pickets have renewed their conversations across the Rappahannock -Yesterday morning a sarcastic Abolitionist called across to our men : "Have you get a ocrporal you'd like to swap for our General McClellan ?" Our men replied they had a drunken corporal, who had been in the guard house for six months that they would trade. "Just send him along." said the Abolitionist.—Richmond

CHARLOTTE, Nov'r. 1, 1862.

Resignation of Col. D. K. McRae. From the Raleigh Standard.]

The following letter of resignation from Colonel McRae to Gov. Vance, will surprise many. The reasons he gives for the step are such as to satisfy his friends and the public. If devotion to the cause, unbleaching courage, hard service and hard fighting entitles a man to promotion, sure Gol. McRae has merited it :-

HEADQUARTERS 5TH N. C. REGIMENT, Near Strasburg, Va., Nov. 14, 1862.

GOVERNOR :- I have, this day, tendered to the Adjutant General of the Confederate States, the resignation of my commiss sion received from the Governor of North Carolina as Colonel of the 5th Regiment of her State Troops.

lam constrained to do so, because, consistently with my sense of dignity and self-respect, I can no longer serve the Government of the Confederate States.

I have now been in the service about nineteen months. With the exception of about twenty-five days, sick, I have never been absent from the post of duty. I have served under several commanders, and have never, in a single instance, encouned a reproof. My division commander, Major General Hill, endorses upon my resignation, in substance-"I have three times recommended Colonel McRae for promotion. North Carolina has furnished more troops and has fewer general officers than any other State. I approve Colonel McRae's resignation, believing that his osity, and to his surprise found it to be soself-respect requires it."

Lieut. General Longstreet and Brig. Gens, Early and Rhodes, under all of the people and Legislature of Alabama are whom I have served, and all of whom are | making such exertions to obtain salt, that familiar with my conduct, have recom- it exists in the greatest abundance, not mended me in terms of compliment, of only under the earth, but on the surface. which I am justly proud; and there is not A deep cut through a hill on the rail road an officer of any grade in my division who has been made, which exposes towering to promotion. My regiment has endured hardships, suffered privations, performed labors, executed marches, been exposed to peril and rendered service equal to any .-Its actual loss in a single engagement, while obeying immediate orders, is not surpassed, proportionately. Wherever it has encamped it has been remarked for its orderly and honest deportment. It has strata exist in Ocorgia? Shall we have constantly received the approval of general officers for its promptness and fidelity in responding to every call. The public journals of the enemy's country, the diaries of prominent officers found on battle fields, and private letters of other distinguished officers of the enemy, addressed to officers of my regiment, have contributed valuable testimony to its brave and gallant conduct in the fight.

So long as it retained the material element, which I had the honor to form and train, it never faltered, I claim, in some degree, the reflection of the lustre it has shed upon the State. Much of the time I have been in the service, I have commanded the brigade. This was the case in all the hard trials of the retreat from Manassas-in the exposed trenches at Yorktown and in that retreat; in the battles in Maryland and since that period, At the battle of South Mountain this brigade, though isolated from all support, numbering scarce a thousand, and opposed by a force of sixteen regiments, having all the advantages of position, held the enemy in check for four hours; the fire of one regiment, the 23d, killing the commanding General. Reno; that of another, the 20th, killing the enemy's cannoneers and compelling the abandonment of his guns; whilst a third, the 13th, under Lieut. Col. Ruffin, thrice cut its way through the enemy's lines with desperate determination. Gen. Hill, I learn, applauds that fight as one of the best of the war.

Yet, on several occasions, I have been compelled to see junior officers promoted over me; officers who had not and have not yet seen a battle. Shortly after th battle of "Seven Pines," State brigades were organized. Generals Pender and Anderson were promoted and assigned to North Carolina brigades, while the brigade in which I was senior Colonel, was assigned to the command of General Gare land of Virginia. I refrained from resigning then, because of the impending conflict around Richmond, yielding to the earnest solicitation of both Generals Hill and Gar-

Since that, Gen. Garland has made the most favorable mention of my conduct on the field, and Gen. Hill has renewed the recommendation for my promotion.-The appointment of Brigadier to this command has just been announced in the person of Col. Alfred Iverson, of Georgia, who, since his entering on active service last summer, has been my junior in the brigade, and for the last two months under my commad. I could not consent that a junior officer in my own command should be promoted to command me, when no allegation is made of my unfitness or un-

Hospital Appointments. Friday-Mrs. Overman and Miss Patcy

From Eastern Carolina. We have various rumors from Newbern (says the Daily Raleigh Progress) all of which concur in the statement that large reinforcements have been received at that place. We caution the authorities that a forward movement may be expected from that direction soon, and we hope they will be ready to meer it.

The Latest Discovery. The Atlanta Confederacy says:

Yesterday we were shown a specimen of 'rock salt," which a gentleman had brought from Opelika, Alabama, on the

He says that what now appears to be ar inexhaustable supply was accidently discovered by a gentleman who broke a rock which he was using in place of a hammer. The rock had such a beautiful crystalized appearance that he tasted it, out of curilid rock salt.

It is somewhat remarkable that while crossties are laid on the same substance. From the graphic description which the gentleman gave of the excitement over the discovery, we can almost see the little city of Opelika standing on a huge crystal of

Why was this important discovery deferred to such a late date? May not such a State Geologist? We hope so. The Charleston Courier has been furnished with a specimen of the Salt. THE LATE CHANGE OF BASE.

We think there can now be but little doubt that the enemy had seriously selected Fredericksburg as their point of advance against Richmond. Burnside came in under a pressure and an implied promise, which held him to a quick attempt at important results. Halleck, too, who was bound to vindicate the policy which had degraded McClellan, was equally interested in switt and important movements In motion for Fredericksburg.

Whether Fredericksburg would have is the only one from which a movement little time would have been more than consumed in the Herculean and tedious task of transporting such an army as Burnside's with such trains as his, to the Suffolk base. The bad weather, and especially the deep roads, would then have held the army in camp till spring. If, however, the time could be employed in marching was judiciously selected as a near point. with a high road to Richmond.

That Burnside has been seriously bafficrossed before him, with Lee, whom he been brought to a stand. We should not wonder it already Burnside has ended his race, and will be displaced for a new man, who, as the only move he can make, will take to water. In that case, we trust our soldiers will be in in place to amuse his rear and solute his departure.

Meanwhile, all hail noble Fredericksburg .- Richmond Enquirer.

Lincoln has written a letter Charles Francis Adams, his Embasse at London, in which he takes the bold and decided ground, that no interposition by foreign powers will be tolerated by him, and that on any attempt on the part of England and France to meddle in the present conflict between him and the people of the South, will be mot with prompt, indignant resistance from himself and his outire Cabinet and Congress. He "would rather sink the Union, and all on board. beneath the bottom of the sea, than sub-mit to a compromise with treason or par-ley with traitors."

nd of Dixie again; We feel indeed that we had got into the land of civiliza eard that welcome old-time sound. We have arrived here wearied and dy after a fatigueing pursuit of the ene from his hold on the South side of the l Ridge, which, after being harrassed Stuart for the past three weeks, he has reuished. Day and night, through rain and snow, the untiring and intrepid Stuart has thrown us on his rear until we have got them on a "change of base," having pursued them from Little Washington through Rappahannock county, and thro Warrenton into this county, and in all probability ere this reaches you a general engagement shall have taken place.

In my last communication I gave you an ecount of the engagement of our Reginent with the enemy at Barbees Cros Roads on the 5th and on the 7th inst., and again at Gains' Cross Roads on the North side of the Rappahannock at the foot of the South side of the Blue Ridge. On the 8th inst., our pickets at the last named place were charged upon by the enemy, evidently with the view of surprising the nearest camp, which was Cobb's Cavalry Legion. mediately on the road near Little Washington. Here the uncommon boldness and dash of their cavalry came well nigh completely surprising this camp. But Colonel Deloney with only ten of his men who chanced to be in their saddles, boldly dashed out against their sweeping columns as they came arfull speed down the road in heavy force. Here this little gallant ten held them in check until the Regiment formed and came to their support and met them in full charge and swept them back down the way they came, and sent them scowling under cover of their artillery, when our artillery engaged them and drove them back several miles. Their dead and wounded was carried to the rear after the charge; which, from appearances must have been considerable. Our loss was 3 killed and fifteen wounded, and it is due to state of the gallant ten who received their whole column only the Colonel and one man escaped unhurt. The enemy in his charges seems to ride badly and a Tew rebel yells confuses him beyond recovery. As one of their captured Colonels, on reflecting on the conduct of said, with an emphatic "be-d-md that their cavalry would break and run if an old gander would fly towards them."

From daily reconnoissances and skirmishes, it was found that the enemy was evidently "changing his base." And on the night of the 17th inst., Gen. Hampton ordered a detachment from our Reg't and 2d S. C. Cavalry to join him. He proceeded cautiously towards their camps, which was found vacated. The reconnoissance was progressing without any interruption in the direction of Warrenton, when their pickets were discovered. And about 30 of our men were dismounted out of the two Let not the blessing pass by for want of regiments, and thrown forward as skirmishers before them. Here I deem it due to mention that Moses Cruise and J. Reinhart of our company were considerably in advance of the other party. Advancing through a thick wood, loading and firing as they went at the skirmishers immediately in tront, had got nearly past, and within thirty yards, a considerable body of infants and success. Hence he visited Burnside's ry skirmishers on their left, when these camp, and immediately the army was but two brave soldiers took each to a tree, deliberately gave them the best they had, under an incessant volley pouring in upon seen preferred for the new base or not, it them. The enemy finding their deadly carbines unwholesome undertook to charge to Richmond during the remaining days or upon them but the front man fell under the the present campaign was possible. The unerring aim of the former's carbine which checked their advance till the support from the skirmishers from the right came up and the word charge was given, when the enemy broke and our boys after them, over the hill. At the top they found themselves nearly into an infantry camp, who had formed to receive them. Of course diseretion being the better part of valor, our instead of sailing; and if Lee thought only skirmishers gave back slowly from hill of keeping out of the way. as the enemy to hill, firing as they went. Their body of has been declaring, then Fredericksburg skirmishers did not seem disposed to advance. Our loss was one South Carolinian killed and young Reinhart wounded in the hand. The enemy kept under cover ed and his plans deranged, by the failure of the woods, and the ground being imto capture Fredericksburg, is, we think, practicable for cavalry to operate on, and very evident. He is counting his time by besides they were found to be in too strong days-and already he has lost almost a body to have been successfully met.week. Still the Rappahannock lies un. Their loss was found to have been fifteen killed and several wounded. We returned had hoped to outmarch, upon its Southern to camp, but next morning set out in pur bank. The new "On to Richmond" has suit and found all their camps deserted and from the extent of ground they were found to cover their army must be exceed ingly large. We passed through Warren-ton. General Stuart slept in the bed that Burnside had slept in the night before and his headquarters are now at the identical house where the "Young Napoleon" turned his command over to General Burnside. This event has caused great dissatisfaction in the Yankee army. I heard eye witnesses state that whole regiments, after it be-came positively known that McClellan had been superceeded, threw down their arms and were marched off under guard without them. I also learned upon good authority that McClellan's whole staff were arrested and taken to Washington. And greater portion of the army are loud in beir averments that this is now a "nigger

But we must bear in mind that most of them are fighting for pay. As another

But we saw two many soft-fingered gentry on their streets and at the farm houses to give earnest to such expressions. I say, in conclu sion, that our army is a unit, that this i a death struggle and we must die or win. And bt the worst come; we will be con soled that "the race is not always to the

To the Editor of the Richmond Whig: In looking over the columns of your pa per for last week, in the midst of articles which we read week by week with so much interest, my eye fell upon these ords-"A Prayer for Peace." My heart throbbed, and a deep feeling of thankfulness and joy filled my soul. Was it indeed true that this contiment had at last originated and been prominently brought forward? May it be as "the little leaven which leaveneth the whole lump!" May it indeed be the morning star which heralds the approach of day! Too long have we looked abroad upon the nations of earthfor "Peace Makers." They have stood aside and looked with a cool "neutrality" upon blood flowing like the rivers. > IN MEMORIUM. IN CAMP NEAR SMOKETOWN, Va., Nov. 14th, 1862.

B. Henderson, Esq. : Your letter to Capt. Hardemon inquiring of the death of your brother Lieut, ALFRED HENDERSON has been received. Lieutenant Henderson was killed in action at Sharpsburg, Md., the 17th September. He was wounded in the neck and lingered several nours after receiving his wound. He was a brave, a noble and a gallant officer. He was much beloved by his company. Your loss is a severe one, but we hope it is his eternal gain, for his spirit has taken its flight to realms of etergal bliss, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest.

Very respectfully, J. A. WALKER, ut. Co. B. 12th Regt, Ga. Vol.

RICHMOND, Nov. 27. The recently published United . States Naval Register places the number of Yankee Naval vessels at 388, mounting 3072 guns.

There are yet one hundred and seven teen renegade Southerners holding position in the Yankee Navy.

A Dispatch received this morning says it seems to be understood that a portion at least of the Federal force, which threatened Fredericksburg have been withdrawn. An opinion prevails in some quarters, that they have gone up and down the Rappahannock with the intention of crossing that stream above and below the town.

It is not improbable our forces may yet have an opportunity to repel the invaders. Two men, Ware and Miller, were arrested at Charlottesville, Va., yesterday, charged with counterfelting Confederate Notes, have been brought to this city to answer.
